

An aerial photograph showing a rural landscape. A large, irregularly shaped area of dense green forest is outlined with a red line. This forested area contains a small, dark pond. Surrounding the forest are various agricultural fields, some of which are harvested and appear as light brown or tan. To the right of the forested area, there is a large, rectangular, light-colored structure, possibly a warehouse or a large barn. The text "Approximate Boundaries" is written in red, underlined font, positioned to the left of the red boundary line.
